

December 1st, 2016

The Luminares Group acquires Luminis

The Luminares Group (“TLG”) today announced the acquisition of Luminis, a Montreal-based manufacturer of innovative indoor and outdoor specification grade LED lighting solutions. Focused on design and function, the Luminis product offering is a perfect complement to the TLG portfolio of award-winning brands. “The Luminares Group acquisition of Luminis reinforces our commitment for strategic growth and innovation as we bring yet another established brand into The Luminares Group’s family” said Christian B. Fabi, President of TLG.

Luminis will operate as a standalone division and maintain its operations in Montreal. Luminis will continue to be managed by Nicolas Cohen, current President and a founding member of Luminis. “We will continue to focus on our national and regional partners and customers in the commercial and institutional markets. Luminis, as the other divisions of TLG, will maintain their separate agent networks and distribution channels to ensure that customers continue to receive the attention and service they’ve come to expect” added Mr. Cohen.

“TLG is growing to become one of the largest privately held lighting groups in North America, comprising of niche brands focused on design, innovation and function. This acquisition represents the next logical step in our corporate progression,” commented Mr. Fabi. As part of The Luminares Group team, Luminis will benefit from the strengths of a dynamic team that shares the same core values of innovation, performance and quality. TLG and Luminis have each developed a reputation for outstanding products supported by impeccable customer service, and this acquisition will ensure more innovative solutions for years to come.”

About The Luminares Group

Founded in 1987, TLG designs, develops, manufactures, and distributes specification-grade lighting products across North America via three niche brands, each with its own focus. Eureka concentrates contemporary decorative lighting; A-Light focuses on architectural lighting; and Cyclone specializes in outdoor area lighting. TLG serves commercial, institutional and municipal markets and offers a wide range of specification grade lighting fixtures for interior and exterior use. TLG divisions have received many industry awards for its innovative designs and product excellence, including NGL, PIA, Good Design and several prestigious Red Dot Awards.

For more information: www.luminaresgroup.com

About Luminis

Luminis designs and manufactures specification grade interior and exterior lighting for a wide range of applications including parks, campuses, urban and commercial developments, offices, retail stores and schools. Throughout its 30-year history, the company has invested heavily in research and development to produce innovative products that integrate style and technology to deliver high efficiency, performance and durability. The company’s products have been recognized with a catalog of innovation awards, including PIAs, ADEX and IIDEX, as well as being included in the IES Progress Report selection.

For more information: www.luminis.com